Visualizing each and every problems using paper and pencil was extremely helpful to me.
I feel that this class was my most beneficial course I took during the fall semester. By working through examples in class and being encouraged to take written notes, I feel I learned a lot about the material covered and was engaged with the material. I already felt confident in my excel skills prior to taking this class, but feel that it was good for me to be able to expand on them further while still keeping my current skills up to date.
I enjoyed the aspect of doing the material by hand first, then doing it in excel.
Not fair at all for exams. you cannot give a student two separate parts when the student does not know how much material there will be, it affects them rushing through the first and second part of the exam.
I wish the TA would have engaged more with the students.
i like that there was a balance between the computer and paper and pencil. because i am also an accounting major, alot of the material ties to my other classes and helped me have a better perspective on certain topic

He did perfect job on this course
Professor Desai encouraged us to take notes and would ask the class questions during lectures, which helped me stay focused. I have ADD and learn better when I am engaging with the material. By answering questions and participating, I learned a lot. I was not always present for classes but kept myself up to date with the material we were covering when I was absent. If students were not there the previous class, they were more likely to be called on to answer a question, but I didn't mind this as I enjoy participating and believe that if I miss a class it is my responsibility to ensure I go over what was learned previously on my own.
Never responded to emails. Notes are absolutely impossible to read and you don't even post the full homework solutions online, which is absolutely ridiculous because that is how were going to study for the exam. How are we going to practice and study if your notes are not clear and we don't have all the CORRECT answers?
Did not feel like a was properly taught and respected in this class. Do not feel prepped for the final either because of this teacher.
i wish that notes were put on blackboard. we were instructed to ask classmates for coursework but being a timid person, sometimes it was hard fining people to get information from

The free online textbook was excellent and I appreciated not having to spend any additional money on course materials for this class. The assignments were relevant and a great way to test ourselves on the skills we covered in class and helped prepare me for the exams. I am happy that unlike some other courses which have "busy work" homework for the sake of having homework, this course had homework which was used to practice what we were learning and could be used as a study material.
Only thing I appreciated about this class is the free textbook. All courses should have the provided.
all assignments were stratight forward
